

Colour Match

Faculty: Health

Dear diary, you would think that having a common enemy would help us all to put aside our differences. Instead, everyone is bickering! All the time! About everything!
I overheard this bizarre argument while seeking some peace and quiet in my book fort:

They eventually found common ground:

-----