

#FollowMeTo

Faculty: Arts

Dear diary.

People say that when you read a book, you can escape to a different place. I used to believe that and could vividly imagine the places in books I read. I could picture Narnia so clearly that it almost seemed real. However, after being trapped in a building full of books for far too long, I beg to differ. There is no book in here that can help me escape.

Get me out.

